Coaching experience

Alan blends his developed coaching skills with his unique background experience giving him the ability to relate to each person's context and coaching journey. He provides coaching opportunities for both personal and professional development that lead to practical results. Alan has worked as a coach for more than five years with a wide range of people, from Executive General Manager to graduate level across public and private sector organisations.

Expertise and specialty areas

As a DG and CEO in WA Government for over ten years, Alan has a full understanding of the context and challenges of senior leadership. He is experienced in complex service delivery and multi-agency state-wide operations. He has significant skills and experience in large projects covering infrastructure delivery, services, contracts and ICT. Also, he has additional insight into current government challenges through his role as Independent Chair of the DLGSC Audit Committee.
